

Seacoast Resident recognized in National Publication

Julie Cole, seacoast resident and VP of Marketing at Favorite Foods of Somersworth NH, was recently recognized by the Griffin Report as a "Woman of Influence in the Foodservice Industry". The Griffin Report, a national publication written for and about the news-making people, products, events and trends across the entire food industry, named Ms. Cole to its prestigious list in a special feature for the February Issue.

"Women of Influence" spotlights women leaders who have made substantial contributions to the Food Industry. Inclusion on this select list recognizes highly visible contributions to the food industry, professionalism, and awareness of the potential of women in business. "I am proud to introduce these women trendsetters whose leadership, skill and dedication have and are making a difference" wrote Karen Harty, VP Griffin Publishing Company. "We are profiling women who play a significant role in their company through their leadership, expertise, and dedication and even beyond through their charity, philanthropy and civic work."

In an advertisement placed by Favorite Foods in the publication, Julie is praised for her hard work, dedication, and commitment to the company's success. "We are proud to have someone with your abilities on our side, and we appreciate all you have contributed to our industry, community, and company."

"I am honored to be listed along side a group of women who I have admired for their contributions throughout the years," stated Ms. Cole. "At Favorite Foods, I am fortunate to work with an incredible group of people dedicated to our industry and the independent restaurants we are privileged to serve. My coworkers and our customers inspire me, and I look forward to all the future holds for all of us."

Inductees receive editorial coverage in The Griffin Report including their thoughts on issues and opportunities facing the Food Industry.

Julie Cole is a native of Newnan, GA but made her way to Portsmouth, NH in 1995. She now resides in Dover, NH with her husband Matt and their two children.
